a marathon and am looking for a HR monitor to help me train. I can't decide if I should get the Garmin Forerunner 110 or Garmin FR70. I'm attracted to the GPS capabilities of the 110, but the FR70 seems like it would be a better watch for training, though it doesn't have GPS.

The Garmin FR70 is pretty carefree. Not a lot of maintenance needed. Many GPS watches offer a map of your run afterwards when you transfer or download your data. The FR70 cannot. However, onnce you set it up, the FR70 also interfaces with your computer through Garmin Connect. It virtually automates a running log at a basic level.
