The Four SOCIAL STYLES are the Driving Style, the Expressive Style, the Amiable Style, and the Analytical Style. TRACOM created the SOCIAL STYLE Model based on the four unique Styles, with each having different ways of using time and predictable ways of interacting and making decisions. With the SOCIAL STYLES assessment, you can observe a person and determine their preferences or Style. You can then use that information to moderate your behavior and make that person more comfortable.

SOCIAL STYLE Model - TRACOM Group

Social styles are ways in which individuals interact interpersonally with others. Merrill and Reid (in their book Personal Styles & Effective Performance) suggest that assessing one's assertiveness and responsiveness will yield one of four social styles (Find assessment here: <http://www.smallworldalliance.com/documents/SocialStyles-Assessment.pdf>). These social styles are analytical, driver, amiable, and expressive.

At the root of these styles, according to leadership experts Bill Torbert and David Rooke, are what are called "action logics." These action logics assess "how [leaders] interpret their surroundings and react when their power or safety is challenged." That's the idea behind a popular management survey tool called the Leadership Development Profile.
