HASSELBLAD 907X 50c - Fresh from the field

The Hasselblad V-System evolved out of Victor Hasselblad's desire to develop a small camera with fast lenses and shutters, that was as easily hand-holdable as a Leica, but with a larger film format. The Rolleiflex 's 6 × 6 format was deemed ideal: large enough to provide high image quality, but small enough to fit inside a compact camera.
